Two officers were killed. The authorities seized eighteen rifles, afteen revolvers and thirteen bombs. A number of officers and policemen were disarmed in the streets, and several policemen were Lilled.

The troops have new occupied all the barricades. In one case they fired on the revolutionists from the sceple of a church. Revolutionists armed with bombs and revolvers are now besieging the residence of the Prefect. There are meny revolting details of the day. At Fidlers' School, after the students had raised the white flag and came out they were charged, ridden down and sabered by the dragoous.. The revolutionaries retaliated wherever they caught an officer alone, and on the slightest resistence he was beaten into insensibility.

Telegraph poles, wires, plunks, burrels and any material available were used in the construction of many barricades, which sprang up all over the city, and as soon as one was destroyed another went up as if by magic at a different place.
